WILD SCENES IN THE

A Prohibition Move Causes Excitement.

CINCINNATI, May 20.—[Special.]—In talking with the delegates to this conference, the chief impression received is that they are terribly in earnest. When the public learned that the and anarchists, a rough crowd was expected. The result is very different from what was an-The result is very different from what was anticipated. Though the mass of the delegates is permeated with revolutionary ideas, it is by no means an assemblage of hoodlums. The largest delegation, that from Kansas, is principally composed of sturdy farmers, who are intelligent enough to give a reason for the faith that is in them. Utterly worn out with the republican party, in which they were born and bred, they are unable to see how any good can come out of either of the old organizations. Over against their new-born antipathy to republican methods is new-born antipathy to republican methods is set their inherited feeling against the demo-cratic party, and having cut loose from old moorings, they seek only to find the means by which they may steer safely between the two old parties, which they look upon as Scylla and Charybdis.

These western farmers have burned the bridge behind them. They have placed an inbridge behind them. They have piaced an in-superable barrier between themselves and the republican party, they cannot go backward, and the dynamic force of discontent makes it impossible for them to stand still. They are now like so many mettlesome horses champing at their bits, and it is only with the utmost exertion and the most astute generalship that their leaders are able to hold them back at all. If these leaders, who for the time are acting with the more conservative southern alliancemen, were rash conservative southern alliancemen, were rash enough to assert that there should be no third party, they would be brushed aside and ignored. Under these circumstances, the leaders talk only of the expediency of delay until the masses may be educated up to the point of independent political action.

But this appears to be only a staving off of a leading of the great.

inevitable event. The feeling of the great an inevitable event. The feeling of the great hass of delegates here is so pronounced for the formation of an independent party that nothing which does not tacitly acknowledge that to be the end in view could for a moment

Congressman Livingston, who is fighting and to make this conference a nullity, excepas to an endorsement of the Ocala platform, is of necessity dumb as to the future. He only presents the fact that the alliancemen of seventeen states to the south are not ready to go into a third party. When the western men demand of him to say when the south will be ready, he will not say. Of course he knows that so long as the race probm remains and dominates all issues, the uth will not be ready to leave its old moorings, and that no class, urban or rural, will contrib-ute largely to a third party. But that fact has people who cannot bear to hear any one speak of allegiance to old parties. Their fundamental idea is change. That is the thing on which they are most agreed. This is the general

In spite of what appears to be an over-whelming sentiment for immediate and inde-pendent action, the conservative leaders have an advantage in the disintegrating influence of so many and so diverse views, all pro-mounced and all radical.

ALL WILL MAKE SPRECHES. Of 2,000 delegates there is hardly a man who as not a speech to make. The prospect is, that for the first twenty-four hours the conven on will devote the time to blowing m. If any gag rule should be adopted I do not think the police of the city could ressonably be held responsible for conse-quences of the explosion that would fol-here, the Knights of Labor, the Farmers' Alliance and the Citizens' Alliance are already pledged to the Ocala platform, resolutions endoming that document would be likely to go through with a whoop.

THE EXPERIMENT WILL BE TRIED.
But if those who fight for delay should get it, they need not lay to their souls the fiattering unction that they have nipped the third party in the bud; for there is nothing more certain than that the most discontented elements represented here will not rest until they have tied the experiment of launching their own boat. It is not likely that they will be held back longer than next spring, for they have their hearts set upon the campaign of 1892.

Whatever influence the old parties have here is exerted to delay the movement, and it is not altogether certain that both are not making a great mistake in trying to keep these people back. Let loose now, the movement would probably spend a part of its force by the fall of 1892, but held in check until next spring, it would have the accumulated force of a pent-up flood.

WORKING AGAINST DEMOCRACY.

Among the few southern delegates there are time who say hard things against the democratic party. Mr. J. H. Davis, a tall Texan, from Salphur Springs, made a speech at the meeting of the Reform Press Association and stacked vigorously the democrats of his late.

Calamity Weller had just been talking take a vast amount of education to overcome the democratic majority in Texas, and cited a few facts, as he alleged, to show what the people did not know.

"They do not know," said he, "that the president's family costs the people $120,000 a year; they do not know that it takes $15,000 a year to pay for greenhouse bouquets for the president's family, and that it takes 2,560 towels a month to keep the faces of the con-gressmen clean."

THE LAWS ATTACKED.

Then he attacked the laws of the country. "When a farmer has ten acres in cotton and returns fifty acres in order to get supplies," said Mr. Davis, "he is put in the penitentiary for obtaining goods on false pretenses. The railroad men forge certificates of stock for more than the road is worth in order to get more money, but where will you find a law to put them in the penitentiary for obtaining money on false pretenses? The East Line and Red River railroad, which runs through my county, was built for $4,642 a mile, through my county, was built for $4,642 a mile, and we gave them sixteen square miles of land. They stocked the road at $17,000 a mile. Then it was watered to $22,000. Mr. Gould came along and saw that it was paying interest on $34,000 and he gobbled it up and watered the stock to $34,000. There is no law to put people in the penitentiary for doing this. The farmer who recurred fifty acres to his creditor when he had ten is in the penitentiary; one of the men who watered the railroad stock is in congress. Such men are chairmen of our district and congressional democratic committees. Now if you appoint this committee that Mr. Weller suggests, and if it will furnish the facts to the people, we will wipe out 175,000 democratic majority of 25,000."

At this member exclaimed, "Then give us the committee," and that brought down the house.

With this feeling among the papers which feed the masses, it is easy to see how they are dritting. The only truth is that where these papers number something over 100, the papers in the old party number thousands.

Yesterday's Proceedings. CINCINNATI, May 20.—[Special.]—The circumstances of the birth of the people's party at today's session of the national union conference does not imply for it a national following. From its complexion, it might well have been named a western, if not a trans-Missis-sippl party of 1,418 delegates. Only three present come from the vast region south of Ken-tucky and Missouri. The region in which the Farmers' Alliance was born and grew to its present proportion, and in which the great mass of its membership reside, is practically unrep-

It is no wonder that, in view of this defi-ciency, the committee on resolutions and plat-forms wrestled all night with the question whether it was better to take immediate action or to postpone the actual organization of a third party until a convention could be gotsomething.

THE CONTROLLING STATES. An analysis of the membership as declared by the report of the committee on credentials shows that two states controlled the conven shows that two states controlled the convention. Ohlo with 317 delegates, and Kansas with 411 had a majority of the body and the resolution to vote by states with one additional vote for each fifty delegates was howled down and it soon became apparent that three or four states had brought men enough to organize the meeting so that it would be impossible to defeat the purpose of the radicals. It is said that most of the Ohlo delegates came from this county and are composed largely came from this county and are composed largely

COULD NOT DO OTHERWISE.

The committee on resolutions had not been able to agree on a decisive step and might have brought in some milder resolution if it had not been flanked earlier in the morning session by the committee on rules and order of business by the bringing in of a recommendation for the election of a national central committee. This was put to the convention it was redhot and went through with a whoop

After that there was no use to temporar and the committee on resolutions brought in an unanimous report, the first paragraph of which declared that the time had come "to crystallize the political for coof reform."

When at last the platform was adopted a dramatic scene occurred. Davis, the Texan, who stands about six feet and a half high gave vent to his feelings with a tremen whoop resembling the whoop of a Comanche Indian. He was called to the platform and made a speech in which he referred to his ser-vice in the confederate army on the instant Delegate Woodworth, of Indiana, a federal veteran, was brought forward, and made a ringing speech. The two men shook hands, and old man Humphreys, representing the colored brother, moved forward to join them.

SOME WILD SCENES. Somebody seized three United States flags and handed them to the three men, who stood together, locking arms under the flags, while cheer after cheer went up, and delegates leaped cheer after cheer went up, and delegates leaped upon their chairs in the excitement of the moment. All about the hall were poles bearing placards with the names of the states, and the delegates tore loose the sticks and pressed forward with them until the flags were surrounded by the galaxy of states.

The convention went wild. The man with the Kansas standard wrapped a United States flag around it and climbed on two friends who stood upon a table and so held his placard high above the rest.

This scene lasted for about ten minutes, and the convention shouted until it was utterly worn out.

There were repeated attempts to put a pro-hibition plank in the platform, and Mrs. Helen M. Gongar's announcement from the stage that she repudiated the use of her name be-cause of the prominence of a member of the liquor sellers' association in the body, raised quite a storm.

INVITED TO A BEER GARDEN. It was only monumental cheek that would have invited a reform convention com-posed partly of women, to a reception at the Bellevue house, which is, in plain terms, a

There was rather a significant demonstration when the letter from President Polk, of the alliance, was read, The convention did not like the idea of delay, and one of them shouted:

"I move we sit down on that communication just as hard as we can."
A burly Kansas delegate said:
"If our brother is not ready to come now, and wants to join us next spring, we ought to take him in. I move we refer the matter to the committee on resolutions."

WEAVER'S SPERCH.

the fight in 1892. That party has no status in the southern states. In the last general election they lost the majority of the northern states also. That left them in a forlore condition. They can sot as flankers for the Wall street candidate, who is to be nominated by the other party. Mr. Cleveland, whose name I mention with no disrespect, when he wrote his anti-sliver letter, did it deliberately, as I happen to know. It was done after long consultation and over the protest of scores of his friends. The plutocracy will make the battle of 1802 under the leadership of Grover Cleveland.

WILL HAVE ITS EFFECT.

There can be no doubt that this speech, which

WILL HAVE ITS RFFECT.

There can be no doubt that this speech, which gives the line of attack by which the new party proposes to assail the democrats, will have its influence on the nominations which the democratic party is to make next year. It would have been expected that an old politician like General Weaver would keep his battery masked till the enemy was in sight, but he has set out hunting with a brass band, and the chances are that he will not find the quarry. However highly the democrats value Mr. Cleveland for his past services, it becomes daily more apparent that they are not willing to carry the load which his anti-sliver letter would put upon them.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Wesver is pushing things in his own state, would put upon thom.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Wesver is pushing things in his own state, and the people's party will hold a convention on the 3d of June to nominate a governor. Iows has also a legislature to elect, and the people's party will seek to capture that also. Indeed, it begins to look like a general movement all along the line of the lake and western states.

The Kentucky delegates went over to Covington tonight to nominate a full state ticket in opposition to Brown, the democratic nominee. George H. Thobe, the new man who came so near beating Carlisle, will be chosen. In Ohio a convention of the people's party will shortly be called. In New York the Farmers' Alliance already has the balance of power, though no third party has been organized there yet. Next year the alliance will be in a position to dictate terms in that state.

Although today's work was exceedingly crude, all indications point to the probability that when the great conference of industrial organization meet on the 22d of next February it will come in representative shape and will set forth a movement in comparison with which the present one will be insignificant.

The women tried to put two planks in the platform and succeeded with one. They lost the prohibition plank, but got in the one for female suffrage. If that be secured the other would not be long in following.

THE CLOSING SCENES.

in Cincinnati. CINCINNATI, May 20.—When the convention got together this morning a chorus from the Farmers' Alfance songbook preceded prayer by Rev. Gilbert Delamater. Greenback ex-Congressman Delamater was roundly applauded when he arose to pray.

Frequent and earnest amens from the audience punctuated the invocation, and then the Kansas Glee Club regaled them with a humorous ditty.

Reports from the committees of arrangements and credentials now helped to kill time.

gate Savage, by name, came forward personally, and in a clever speech said the reason so few of the colored organizations were represented, was that colored people were too poor.

It was perhaps as well for the convention, he added, syeing the hats that were being passed around for his benefit, that so few of the colored delegates came. He was handed a hat full of small change, and retired amid great cheering for the colored alliance. A proposition to adopt a unit rule was overwhelmingly defeated on the ground that every man that came to the convention should have a vote and have it counted. A five-minute rule for speeches was adopted. Recess was taken until 2 p. m.

A LETTER FROM POLK.

When the convention reassembled, a letter from L. L. Polk, which was read, advising this conference to issue an address and defer action on the third party until 1892, caused a breeze, and when a motion to refer it to a committee on resolutions was declared carried, there was a loud demand—netably from the Minnesota delegation—that the negative be put more forcibly by the chair. The demand was renewed and continued from time to time during the reading of a number of miscollaneous telegrams. Ignatius Donnelly, chairman of the committee on resolutions, climbed up on the rostrum at this juncture amid a whirlwind of excitement, and announced that he was there to report that the committee on the platform was a unit for the organization of the third party. action on the third party until 1892, caused a

The Platform.

The committee on resolutions reported the following platform:

1. That in view of a great social, industrial and economical revolution new dawning on the civilized world and the new and living issues confronting the American people, we believe that the time has arrived for the crystallization of the political reform forces of our country and the formation of what should be known as the people's party of the United States of America.

2. That we most heartily endorse the demands of the platforms as adopted at St. Louis, Mo., in 1899; Ocala, Fla., in 1890, and Omaha, Neb., in 1891, by the industrial organizations there represented, summarized as follows:

(a.) The right to make and issue money is a sovereign power to be maintained by the people for their common benefit, hence we demand the abolition of national banks as banks of issue and as a substitute for the national bank notes we demand that legal tender treasury notes be issued in sufficient volume to transact the business of the country on a cash basis; without damage or an especial advantage to any class or calling, such notes to be legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private, and such notes, when demanded by the people, shall be loaned to them at not more than 2 per cent per annum upon non-perishable products as indicated in the subtrasaury plan, and also upon real cetata, with the proper limitation upon the quantly of land and manded by the people, shall be loaned to them at not more than 2 per cent per annum upon non-perisbable products as indicated in the subtrastury plan, and also upon real estate, with the proper limitation upon the quantity of land and the amount of money.

(b.) We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

(c.) We demand a passage of laws prohibiting alien ownership of land, and that congress take prompt action to devise some plan to obtain all lands now owned by alien and foreign syndicates, and that all land held by railroads and other corporations in excess of such as are actually used and needed by them be reclaimed by the government and the actual settlers only.

(d.) Believing the doctrine of equal rights to apply to all and a special privilege to none, we demand that taxation—national, state or municipalshall not be used to build up one interest or class at the expense of another.

(c.) We demand that all revenues—national, state or county—shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the government, economically and homesty administered.

(f.) We demand a just and equitable system of graduated tax on income.

(g.) We demand a supervision does not remove abuses now existing we demand government ownership of such means of communication and transportation.

(h.) We demand the election of the precident, the leading reform organizations.

4. That a national central committee be appointed by this conference to be composed of a chairman, to be elected by this body, and of three members from each state represented, to be named by each state delegation.

5. That this central committee shall represent this body, to attend the national conference, on February 22, 1892, and, if possible, units with that and all other reform organizations there assembled. If no satisfactory arrangement can be effected, this committee shall call a national convention, not later than June 1, 1892, for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice president.

8. That the members of the central committee for such state, where there is no independent political organization, conduct an active system of political aritation in their respective states.

Additional resolutions, not part of the platform, were presented. They recommended a favorable consideration of universal suffrage, demanded that the treasury notes paid soldiers be made equivalent to coin, favored eight hours a day and condemned the action of the world's fair commission with reference to

When resolutions recommending universal suffrage to a favorable consideration, and demanding payment of bounties on a gold basis, ware read, theiformer met with a rather chilly reception, but the latter was roundly cheered.

Mr. Schilling announced that the pension plank was left to the soldier members on the committee with an inquiry whether it was satisfactory, and on his acquiesence it was adopted unanimously. Mr. Davis, of Taxas, a lank six-footer in a light suit, who had electrified the convention during Donnelly's speech by a long weird whoop of exultation, was conducted to the platform, and to the intense delight of the convention, repeated his unearthly Indian-like trill. Then he announced himself as an ex-confederate and declared himself for the platform—every plank and every resolution.

rushed up to ex-confederate Davis in full view of the convention and the two one-time mortal foes grasped hands.

R. W. Humphrey, of Texas, organizer of the colored alliance, seized with the inspiration of the moment, suddenly joined the exsolders, and amid a perfect cyclone of enthusiasm the delegates moved the adoption of the platform as read.

The convention went wild and the delegates mounted tables and chairs, shouting and yelling like Comanches. A portion of the convention in thunderous chorus sang to the tune of "Good-bye, My Lover, Good-bye," and then the docology.

In a forest of flags and state bauners that had been gathered with their bearers around the trio, a Kanasa man on the shoulders of two colleagues standing on chairs, raised the Kanasa banner and held it aloft above all others. The tunult surpassed in its remarkable suddenness and vigor anything that had previously taken place in the convention and lasted a full quarter of an hour, till it ceased from the sheer exhaustion of the delegates.

Several delegates seconded the adoption of the report, one suggesting that it be by a rising vote.

"Question, question," came from all parts of the hall. But the pent-up enthusiasm had to have vent and one after another of the crators relieved themselves, the delegates from time to time calling on prominent men in the convention, Weaver, Willets and others.

"Previous question," shouted the delegates, but it had no effect on an irrepressible Texan who was bound to speak his piece. When he had finished, the chairman's gavel fell like a trip-hammer and order was finally restored.

The platform proper, exclusive of other resolutions, was then adopted by a rising vote.

A profileration resolution, threw in a Delegate Miller, of California, threw in a bone of contention by offering this resolution: Resolved, That we tavor the abolition of the liquor traffic.

The confusion became worse, Fifty orators were clamoring for recognition, but the first to succeed was Schilling, of Wisconsin. He opposed the discussion of the question of prohibition at this time. Schilling declared that the resolution proposed by Miller had been fully considered and voted down by the committee on platform. To spring it now was plainly throwing a firebrand into the convention, and in his opinion To spring it now was plainly throwing a fire-brand into the convention, and in his opinion it was a deliberate attempt to cause a split in the party. Pressure at this time for recogni-tion was extraordinary. In desperation the chair proposed to give to ten of the most vo-ciferous delegates, who were crowded about his desk clamoring for recognition, one minute each, and 100 watches were pulled out to make sure that none of the speakers exceeded sixty seconds' limit. The prohibition amendment was overwhelmingly defeated. The resolu-tions were then adopted, with only three dis-senting votes.

tions were then adopted, with only three dissenting votes:
At this juncture J. B. Weaver relieved Chairman Peffer, who was worn out with his fruitless efforts to preserve order, and had, besides, to catch the train for Washington.
A resolution against trusts was choked off by a point of order raised by Schilling, of Wisconsin, that all resolutions should be referred to the committee on resolutions without being read. Then the convention got down to business again and the matter of choosing a national committee was taken up. Chairman Weaver declared a welcome recess to enable the overheated, exhausted delegates to select members of the national committee from their respective states.

their respective states. After the recess, the roll of names was called for members of the national committee, the convention adopting the innovation of ap-pointing three members from each state in-stead of one member, as the old parties have done.

Alliance Congressman J. G. Otis, of Kanss nominated H. E. Taubeneck, of Illinois, chairman of the national executive committee There was a great outburst of cheers whe Taubeneck's name was mentioned.

W. R. Lamb, of Texas, seconded the nom nation, saying he had watched Taubeneck record, and was satisfied. Taubeneck with the constant of the c record, and was satisfied. Taubeneck was chosen by acclaimation.

Lond calls for Taubeneck finally brought that gentleman to the rostrum, where he made a brief, but very manly and modest speech, thanking the delegates.

In conclusion, he said that they were standing on the brink of a conflict between capital and labor, and the longer the conflict was postponed the worse it would be.

"Our politicians," said he, "might as well try to stop a cyclone or the movement of stars, as to evade this issue."

A few moments of confused preparation for adjournment sine die ensued, the chairman's gavel fell and the first convention of the people's party of the United States had passed into history.

gomery to Raise Funds.

Montgomery, Ala., May 20.—[Special.]—
The convention to raise funds to make a display of Alabama's resources at the Columbian exposition in Chicago, was held here today with 100 delegates present. The plan adopted was to organize an association with a capital stock of from $25,000 to $100,000, to be raised by popular subscription of $1 per share.

A resolution was adopted calling on the commissioner of agriculture, with the approval of the governor, to use $10,000 of the agricultural fund to sid in making the display as soon as $5,000 is raised on the outside.

The most earnest enthusiasm was displayed by the members of the convention, and the delegation from Birmingham raised in cold cash $2,000, and guaranteed $20,000 more from their county.

cash $2,000, and guaranteed $20,000 more from their county.

A committee will be appointed by the president, Hon. Dan P. Bestor, of Mobile, to formally organize the corporation under the laws of the state, and begin a canvass for subscriptions to the stook. A convention of the ladies of Alabama will be held in this city this fall to take steps to have the handwork of the women of Alabama properly exhibited at the Columbian exposition. HOW THEY WILL WORK IT Without Making a Large Hole in the Washington, May 20.—[Special.]—Some additional facts have developed as to the system which is to be employed in keeping down pension expenditures, so far as the granting of new pensions is concerned, until the next congress meets. A very pretty plan has been agreed to, by which pensions will continue to be turned out at the rate of s a thousand a be turned out at the rate of s a thousand a day, without making a large hole in the government funds. Under the disability act passed June 27th last, some 630,000 claims have been filed at the pension office. About 430,000 of these were from pensioners drawing $2 to $4 a month, who applied for an increase. This leaves about 195,000 cases claimants who cannot draw pensions except under the new law. These cases will only involve from $8 to $60 during the next quarter. There are, however, 310,000 cases pending un-

These can be issued and made a good showing for the department without costing much money. The old cases are to be allowed to lie in the completed files without adjudication until the next congress meets, when they can be taken out and issued and the democratic congress will haveto foot the bill.

RILLED BY THE GUARD While Attempting to Escape from Pratt

Mines.

Birmingham, Ala., May 20.—Clayton Lioyd, a desperate white convict at Pratt mines, serving a sentence of twelve years for attempting to poison his wife and children in Dale county, that he might marry a Georgia prostitute, attempted to escape last night by setting fire to the lattice work around the setting fire to the lattice work around the closet. He had saturated the wood with oil from his miner lamp. Having made an attempt to escape before, he was being closely watched, and at the very time that he was striking matches last night the guard was watching him from the outside. As he struck his second match the guard fired, killing him instantly. Four hundred prisoners were locked up in the building.

THE CENTRAL SERVES NOTICE That It Will Not Pay the Alabama License

MONTGOMBEY, Ala., May 20 .- The Central MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 20.—The Central railroad of Georgia has served notice on Auditor Hogue that it will not pay the license tax assessed by the state for the payment of the railroad commission against its numerous branches in Alabama. The law has been in force for more than ten years, and this is the first time that there has been any question of its constitutionality. The case is regarded as a test one in which all the roads of the state are interested. Their suit will not affect the railroad commission as they are paid by a direct appropriation from the state treasury.

THE BOYCOTT DECLARED OFF. A Victory for the Lumber Dealers of New York.

New York, May 20.—The boycott which was declared by the labor unions against cer-tain lumber dealers in this city was declared off last night, and the sale and delivery of lum-ber in this city, which was stopped by the lum-ber dealers because of the boycott, was resumed

This is regarded as a complete victory for the Lumber Dealers' Association, and it was frankly admitted to be so last night by the board of delegates.

Will Build a Mill. FLORENCE, Ala., May 20.—The Alabama Cotton Manufacturing Company has perfected its organization and will build a $10,000 spindle cotton mill in East Florence. It is proposed to have it in operation by November ist. The paid-up capital stock is $125,000. The company is composed entirely of New England capitalists. They will manufacture the finer grades of cotton.

At the same place, Mrs. Emily Seal, a widow, aged 60, was fatally hurt, and Mrs. Norris, the mother of E. B. Norris, was killed.

T. B. Norris was badly hurt.

The house of Valentine Erdel fcaught fire during the first gale and was completely destroyed. The inmates had vacated the house and nobody was hurt.

The house of T. B. Hall was blown down, but the family escaped. A horse standing in the road at that place was picked up by the wind, carried half a mile and dashed to death on the ground.

The house of Boston Kunkel was swept away and Kunkle instantly killed. A farmer named Rogers was also killed at that place; also a farmer named Crane. Several farm hands in the vicinity of Kunkel and Rogers's farms are also believed to have been killed. Their names are unknown.

The cyclone passed on, passing Bush Hill, one mile north, carrying destruction everywhere. There is no doubt that great destruction of property and life has occurred further east. Great trees were taken up by the roots and blown off. The scene at this place is horrible in the extreme.

The width of the cyclone was about 200 yards, and as far as heard from, about twelve miles long.

After the election an adjournment was made for dinner and at 2 o'clock an informal meeting was allowed, when the new chancellor appointed his district deputy and committeemen, but refuses to divulge their names.

The lodge then adjourned until next year, when they will meet in Savannah, having accepted an invitation from that city.

At 3 o'clock the knights assembled in front of the Oglethorpe hotel, where a parade formed and the march taken down Newcastle street to Gloucester, up Gloucester to the drill grounds. Arriving there they broke ranks and began preparing for the annual competitive drill. The divisions drilled in the following order:

Duguesolin division of Savanfish, Captain Walker; Teutonian division of Savannah, Captain Davis; Oglethorpe division of Brunswick, Captain Tobe Newman; Macon division of Macon, Captain Hardeman.

All the drills were pretty, but the majority of the sitting knights who were spectators concede the first prize of $200 to Brunswick, but are unable to decide which division will capture the second prize of $75. The individual drill came after, and the prize of a handsome gold medal will certainly go to Knight John W. Willis, of Macon.

Captain A. C. Wilcoxson, of the Brunswick Riffeman; Captain W. N. Clark, of the Wayne cavalry, and Captain John S. Thomas, of the Brunswick Light Horse Guards were the judges. All are very impartial men and will award unhesitatingly to the division who they think won it.

Only Bid Today at Macon.

Macon, Ga., May 20.—[Special.]—Per order of the court, Receiver Key will offer the Covington and Macon railroad at public sale tomorrow to the highest bidder. The minimum bid at fixed by the court is $1,000,000. There have been rumors that the Central railroad and President John M. Robinson, of the Seaboard and Roanoke, would be bidders and perhaps other parties. At this writing it seems that the only bid to be offered will be by the bondholders of the road. No one seems to think that Robinson will be here. The understanding seems to be that the bondholders will bid it in. They may change the name of the road entirely and issue new stock and new bonds, the bonds to be endorsed by the Eichmond and Danville and the Central railroads. to bear 4½ per cent interest per annum. The commission meet in Athens on June 16th, and they will find a college in full blast when they come. The money appropriated by the Morrill bill still remains at Washington, and instead of siding the negro its retention is crippling the establishment of a college for his benefit. The commission can point to the college and say truthfully that it has been established and that Georgia means' business.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN SAGE. After Great Suffering He Breathes His

About two weeks ago, in a collision on the East Tennessee railroad, Captain J. C. Sage received internal injuries, from the effects of which he died at 1:30 o'clock this mo his residence, on Grant street, near Georgia avenue. The deceased was a civil engineer in the employ of the road. He had many friends, who will be shocked to hear of his death. He leaves a wife and two children. Due notice will be given of the funeral.

NO TRUTH IN THE EEPORT.

Touching the story cabled from Paris that at the instance of Minister Reid, who acted at the request of the insurgent envoys in France, the pursuit of the Itata had been discontinued, it can be positively stated that no such orders have been issued to the Charleston, and, in fact, as has already been stated, no communication has been had with that vessel since she was at Acapulco last week. It is known however, that the insurgents have been actively seeking to bring influence to bear to prevent the capture of their vessel, but it cannot be officially learned what shape their efforts have taken.

WHEN THE PRICE OF EVERTTHING Bill for Six Bales of Osnaburgs Which Cost Nearly $10,000-A Curiosity of Nearly Thirty Years Ago.

GREENSBORO, Ga., May 20.—[Special.]— We have been shown a curiosity by Mr. C. A. Davis, Sr., in the shape of a bill of osnaburgs sed by him in 1864. The bill is made out on blue confederate paper, and is for six bales, or 3,000 yards of osnaburgs, purchased November 10, 1864, from Hickman, Chichester & Co., Augusta, Ga. The price paid was $3.25 per yard, or $9,750 for the 3,000 vards. The billhead itself is a curiosity. In the lefthand corner is the coat of arms of the United States, with the motto, "Be Just and

United States, with the motto, "Be Just and Fear Not," beneath it, and was printed before the war, as after the blank date line "Augusta," are the figures "185" in type, the "5" being covered with a "6" and "4" in ink. It is marked "Received payment, H. H. Hickman," who is still one of the most prominent business men in the Electric City.

It cost something in dollars and cents to live those days. The price paid per yard for osnaburgs in that bill would purchase the finest silk, sain or velvet today, and the sum of $9,750 paid for six cases of osnaburgs would stock with all kinds of goods a store larger than those in many interior towns.

At dollar for dollar, today, with the present price of osnaburgs, the $9,750 would purchase 126,750 yards. This would be enough cloth to make three suits of underclothing for every man, woman and child, white and black, in Greene county. In one continuous rollit would almost reach to Augusta.

man, woman and child, white and black, in Greene county. In one continuous rollit would almost reach to Augusta. Cut into strips, a yard wide, it would cover twenty-six acres of land, or the entire business portion of Greensboro. Packed in bales of 500 yards each, there would be enough to fill fourteen freight cars—an ordinary train load; a vast quantity indeed—and shows that money may have been exceedingly plentiful at that time in point of quantity, but its purchasing power was little better than chips or mud pies.

The bill is a curiosity and an interesting reminder of the dark and stormy days of the

MAMIE JOSEPH'S MURDERER. Dramatic Scene in the Courtroom at St

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 20 .- [Special. The second day of the trial of Alexander Campbell, for the murder of Mamie Joseph in St. Augustine, last September, opened with the courtroom packed almost to the point of the courtroom packed almost to the point of suffocation. It seemed as if all of St. Augustine had turned out to attend the trial, and local interest among all classes is intense.

Campbell was brought into court before the crowd was admitted. He was dressed in a dark with a local court of seemed and the s dark suit of clothes, with a white shirt, tie and collar. He seemed to be thinner even than he was yesterday, and his flesh is sallow. He sat over by the sheriff's desk and shook hands with a number of his friends, greeting them all with a smile.

The prisoner, after being brought before the bar, took a position by Mr. Pope, one of his counsel. His old mother came in, placed her arms around Campbell's neck, kissed him and wept bitterly as if her heart would break. His brother and sister-in-law followed and each greeted the prisoner. Campbell's brother was on crutches. Mrs. Campbell is an elderly lady, probably fifty-five years of age. She was dressed in black. Her eyes were red and her mouth had a pathetic curve to it. She looked furtively around the room, as if looking for hope and succor, and nervously wielded a black fan.

After many challenges a jury was secured, and tenight nearly twenty witnesses were examined, including the mother of the murdered girl, whose story was told in the most dramatic manner possible. She frequently assumed very tragic attitudes and gesticulated wildly, then she sobbed hysterically, and nearly the whole audience wept in sympathy with her. Campbell was apparently unmoved by all this, but he appeared decidedly interested at every new phase of the proceedings. Testimony of the prosecution established the killing beyond any doubt.

Then defense began the offering of testimony to prove the temporary insanity of the prisoner at the time of the murder. His mother testified to insanity in the family, induced in many instances by chronic insomnia and hereditary consumption, but this testimony will not be admitted until exports give evidence thereon. Affidavits from many of Campbell's former associates in Baltimore were admitted, showing that he was known there as "Crazy Aleck." Evidence for the After many challenges a jury was secu

NATALIE IN HUNGARY.

The Young King Wept When His Mother Was Seized.

London, May 20.—Ex-Qeen Natalie has arrived at Semlin, Hungary. She wore a dark cloak thrown over an elegant white dressing gown, the lace frills of which fell over her bare hands, while her dark hair streamed back, forming an effective background for her face, which was pale with emotion. Possibly her costume was intended for effect, but Vienna dispatches state that the Belgrade police forced Natalie's residence without warning, brutally seized her and thrust her into a carriage. She told them to tell the ministers that this shameful deed would be an indelible blot on the government and the country, and that such deeds avenge themselves. She also said that the ministers would have to do penance for their acts before God and the nation.

It is reported that the young king wept bitterly wnen his mother was so rudely forced to leave the country. Ex-Queen Natalle had expected that the comp would take place in the night time, and had armed various members of her household with revolvers. When surprised by the attempt made Monday to force her from Servia, the ex-queen requested the officers to give her two nours' time to prepare for her departure, and her request being granted she was thus enabled to send word to the students to organize and come to her rescue. The Small letter to the public has been the subject of general discussion since it ared. Everybody has talked about it, and some of the comment is, it is need less to say, highly uncomplimentary to the evangelist. In fact, it is all against him. Se unanimous is the opposition that it is doubtful if he has a friend in the city.

This trouble is regarded on all sides as a terrible blow at the university, and the university is close to the hearts of the people. The men whom Small attacks are ong the most prominent citizens of this place, and while Rev. J. Wesley Hill is not particularly popular, ordinarily the people are with him this time. A blow at the university is a blow at Ogden.

The Dally Standard voices the sentiment of the great majority of the people here in an editorial just published, under the cap-tion, "The Methodists Warmed a Viper." That editorial reads as follows:

That editorial reads as follows:

The latest effort of the Rev. Sam Small to exhibit his vulgar breeding to the public, gives no occasion for surprise. It is what might at any time be expected from a brawler of his stamp. It has made a commotion, of course. The depravity and base ingratitude which he manifests are so rare that people with ordinary nerve in meeting with such are quite apt to wonder more or less what sort of creature it is that is possessed of such uncommon baseness.

apt to wonder more or less what sort of creature it is that is possessed of such uncommon baseness.

Some of the members of the university board which comes in for a large portion of his ravings we are not acquainted with. For such men as C. R. Hank, S. M. Preshaw and others whom we do know or have known, we can say without qualification that his implications are as utterly false as the impudence of his lies is rank and indecent. When he came here to assume the presidency of the Utah university his first public utterance be trayed plainly that he was a low-bred hind, and The Standard so proclaimed him. He swung hinself into public gaze as he believed too much in the fashion of a blustering tramp to be either the saint or the scholar that he professed himself. His public addresses read like the creations of a garrulous blackguard, and his conduct with his friends was as plainly than as now the cunning of a practiced scamp. He came among those who trusted him as an itinerant beggar, and his success as a sponge mortal man has seldom equaled. Hundreds of dollars of borrowed cash it took to satisfy his prodigality while here, and the paper on which he drew the money for his lavish living is in the banks of Ogden today absolutely worthless, save for the endorsement of the very men at whom he is now leveling his vile abuse. One of the men who did most to make him welcome was S. M. Preshaw, now dead. How would this reverend ghoul meet Mr. Preshaw's widow, his widowed daughter and her fatherless children, whose meager estate will in all likelihood have to be divided in order to satisfy the neglected obligations of this infamous defamer, who is now trying to blacken his memory? Whether or not a visit to Ogden from Mr. Small, under such circumstances, would be embarrassing with respect to the public, who take a more or less fervent interest in such wrongs, it might even to his brazen hardihood prove uncomfortable; so we advise the gentleman to go on doing his newspaper work from Canada, where he now annears to be distribu

It may be remarked that some things grow more popular the oftener they are seen and used. Hawkes's crystallized lenses are an example of this. They have continued to grow in public favor, year by year, until it sometimes seems that all are supplied with them. But hundreds and thousands are just beginning to wear glasses, or are just thinking of doing so, and so the demand increases, and the sales grow larger.

Hawkes's lens-grinding plant elleits the most complimentary remarks everywhere among those who are interested in spectacles and eyelasses, and they are not slow to show their appreciation of a really first-class, thoroughly equipped optical house. The finest lenses are mounted in frames adapted to the face of the wearer, and it follows naturally that a perfect fit is obtained. Dry Goods, Garpets, Furniture and Shoes!

We have decided that as the Spring trade is now considerably advanced and as our stock shows, in many departments, larger than we care to carry through the Summer that we will commence MONDAY TO REDUCE by making prices that will sell every man and woman who desire first-class goods. Our trade understands that

WHAT WE SAY WE MEAN.

And every article named will go if you want the goods. We will name for this week GINGHAMS, BATISTE, TABLE LINENS, NAPKINS, FANCY WHITE GOODS, ONE LOT CHINA SILKS, WOOL DRESS GOODS, PARASOLS, and BOY'S SHIRT WAISTS. Now remember, EVERY ARTICLE IS FIRST. CLASS, not one single item that was not bought regular in our Spring purchases and the same guarantee goes on every purchase as if you was paying the regular price. Our only object is to reduce the quantity, and we are determined to accomplish this end effectually and at the same time give to our regular trade and all who will favor us with patronage THE VERY BEST GOODS FOR LESS THAN THEY WILL HAVE TO PAY FOR INFERIOR GRADES. COME THIS WEEK. Nothing of this kind has ever happened in the history of our city. This will be demonstrated when you see the goods and learn the prices.

ANYBODY CAN BUY A DRESS this week and of our best goods; in fact, any article named above will go at prices that will rapidly clear them out. See them at once and get choice.

Discrimination Against Manufactories.

Our editorial remarks in regard to Atlanta as a furniture center, in which we suggested the propriety of taking steps to confer with the furniture manufacturers of Grand Rapids, has called forth the following communi cation, which we print with pleasure:

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: Referring to your editorial in regard to inviting Grand Rapids furniture manufacturing companies to Atlanta, we would like to inquire what inducements could be offered them. In fact, the struggling factories offered them. In fact, the struggling factories now here would like to know how they can get relief from excessive taxation—double water rates, numerous licenses, etc. We are not surprised to learn that manufacturers are looking for locations out on the Chattahoochee, when the city of Atlanta, not in words but more substantially by acts, says to all manufacturers: "Get out of our limits, and don't stop in reach of our water, but get as far as possible. We don't want your trade nor far as possible. We don't want your trade nor that of your employes."

Furthermore, the discrimination by the rail-roads on rates to and from Atlanta is enough to crush out the manufactures, and certainly does not offer any flattering inducements to new ones to locate here. These are disagreeable facts, and unless corrected at an early date will strike a blow at the prosperity of the city surpassed only "Sherman's torch." You may talk of double electric cars, water supply station houses, etc. but these will not avail to save the city—if she but these will not avail to save the city—a not loses her manufacturing interests. Factories are the rock upon which Atlanta must build for the future. What is she doing for them now? Echo answers nothing. What she will do in the future is for the people to decide. MANUFACTURER.

We are glad that our editorial has had the effect of drawing out the foregoing communication. It is not a very good sign when our manufacturers think they have a grievance against the city. It is the policy of Atlanta to nurture and protect her manufacturing interests, and whenever any manufacturer feels that there is a lapse in or a failure of this policy, it is best that he should make himself heard. The best way to find a remedy for a grievance is to give it a thorough airing. On that account we are glad to print what our correspondent has to say. The probability is that, if the policy of the city strikes him as being inimical to his interests, there must be other manufacturers who feel the same way. If this feeling is at all widespread among these interests, it is the least, is uncomfortable.

The main trouble seems to be the double water rates, which operate as an extra tax on the manufacturers. They feel that they are made to pay a premium on the halting policy, which has heretofore been pursued ith regard to the increase of our water supply, and while the tax may not be bur e, it is onerous and is rightly re garded as in the nature of a discrimination. As a matter of fact, it is a very serious dis crimination, and it is one that is entirely opposed to the whole policy and history of Atlanta. It is not the fault of our manufac turing interests that the water supply, is insufficient, and yet they are charged double rates for the water they use. The tax is imposed ostensibly for the purpose of preventing an unnecessary waste of a very precious article, but as the manufactories are compelled to have the water if they run on time the extra tax is a very serious matter. It is a matter, indeed, which the public sentiment of the city ought not to tolerate for a moment. The basis and superstructure of Atlanta's prosperity are her industries, large and small, and anything calculated to dis satisfy those interests, or anything which even squints in the direction of discrimination or injustice, should not be tolerated for

The communication which we print ought to suggest prompt action, not only in the dion of relieving our manufacturing interests of this extra water tax, but in the direc tion of increasing our water supply. Atmanufactures while such complaints origi-onel Livingston's thorough knowledge of the situation, his firmness and his con vincing way of putting the case staggered the wild third party men, and cooled them down considerably.

It is plain, even to the casual observer of elitical events, that the democratic party is steadily pushing forward on the line of re-form demanded by the alliance. United, the two organizations must inevitably win in the campaign of next year; divided, there is no telling what disastrous results may follow.

There is good reason for congratulation all round over the Georgia allianceman course at Cincinnati.

The chief of the fire department recommends hat no more connections be allowed with the that no more connections be allowed with the city water mains on account of the scarcity of water. There is danger in delaying a the new waterworks. Why not begin? The Cincinnati Convention The convention of alliancemen and work ingmen at Cincinnati is in all respects an interesting affair, and thoughtful readers will not begrudge the space which has been devoted to its proceedings in our news columns. The enthusiasm and the earnestness of the delegates and the developments that are taking place have impressed even the newspaper correspondents, who are familiar with the proceedings of such bodies. These correspondents very clearly perceive that there is something in the air-that the movement which has called the convention together is about to assume extraordinary importance.

It is to be observed that the southern delegates, who are democrats as well as alliancemen, are not taking any very active part in the preliminaries. Their work is confined to preventing any movement which will commit the democratic alliancemen in the south to a third party. Whether they fail or succeed in this the result will be the same. Common sense and a desire for the common safety will prevent the southern farmers from breaking off from the democratic party.

There are republicans in the convention who are making a desperate effort to prevent the western and northwestern alliancemen from forming a third party. But they will not succeed. The whole purpose of the convention is to enter a protest against the republican policy, which, for a quarter of a century, has been grinding the farmers, and making the rich richer and the poor poorer. It would seem natural that these alliancemen in order to make their protest the more significant, would join hands with the demo cratic party and aid the party of the people to sweep the country at the next election; but this is too much to hope for. These western and northwestern alliancemen have been for years voting with the republican party, and while they are now ready to repudiate the corrupt organization, they still retain their prejudices against the democratic

We may regard the third party movement as assured, and though it will be confined to comparatively few states, it will undoubt edly have the effect of aiding the democratic party to score a great victory in 1892. In the confusion attendant on such a movemen the republicans will be demoralized, for the third party will have its center in states that have heretofore been overwhelmingly re so far died out that a paper like The Boston Herald has no hesitation in endorsing the proposed monument in these hearty words: No objection can be made to the way in which the southern people propose to pay respect to the the southern people propose to pay respect to the memory of the late president of the confederacy. Whatever the north may think of him as a politi-cian and statesman, whatever may be its opinion Whatever the north may think of him as a politician and statesman, whatever may be its opinion of his political principles, it can find no fault with the southern people for showing a proper respect for him. He was their standard bearer as truly as General Lee was their military leader, and perhaps the time will come when even at the north it may be conceded that Jefferson Davis was as honest in following his convictions as Robert Lee is universally admitted to have been. The late James Redpath was the companion of Mr. Davis during the last two years of his life, and had a regard for the confederate leader which could only have been derived from a true knowland had a regard for the confederate leader which could only have been derived from a true knowledge of the man himself. If one of our most radical political guides at the north could have been won to give this man his intimate friendship, we cannot wonder at the regard of the southern people. The monument to Jefferson Davis should be worthy of the leader of the lost cause, and no-body at the north will respect southern man the body at the north will respect sonthern men the less on account of this manifestation of their re-

This expression of opinion from a leading Boston daily doubtless represents the sentiment of thoughtful northern people.

On the same line the great west speaks out through The Kansas City Times. An editorial in that paper says:

Monuments are yet unbuilt whose enduring marble is to carry down the story that America honors her great dead. One of them belongs to the memory of Jefferson Davis.

It is more than forty years since the battle of Buena Vista, where a young Mississippi colone saved the day by such gallantry and skill as draw admiration from friend and foe. It is just forty years since a brilliant senator became chairman of the committee on military affairs and entered a career thick with honors and usefulness. It is thirty years since, borne by the cherished convictions of his life, an orator and statesmap went with his state out of a union in which opposing interest justified, as he believed, withdrawal.

A monument to Jefferson Davis is a memorial of the promise joined in by all Americans that this nation is henceforth to be one republic whose civil divisions and whose individual citizens shall have equal rights and equal duties. The monument will be a tribute to a nature as brave and upsoffsh, to a courtesy as lofty and to abilities as rare as ever graced the life of an American citizen. On the day appointed the men, women and children will meet with gladness amid tears to give for the building of a worthy testimonial of respect.

It was the misfortune of Jefferson Davis to be misunderstood, not only in the north, but among his own people. He lived in times that tried men's souls, and he was placed in a position full of danger, difficulty and responsibility. When the confederacy falled it was natural that men should find fault with his policy, and impugn his states-manship. It is very easy after the battle is over to tell how it should have been fought.

The Young Men's Library. Every friend of the Young Men's Library which should mean everybody in Atlanta has reason to feel proud of the record of the library for the past year. The annual address of President W. Slaton gives in a succinct form the story of the year's work. In very many respects the past year has been the most notable in the history of the library.

Growing every day, growing in size and growing in usefulness, it is an institution of inestimable value to the city.

The increase of membership has been remarkable. Of the many new members added, nearly 250 were obtained through the personal work of the president. At all times and under all circumstances Professor Slaton has devoted his energies to the library, and the result is one of which he should be eminently well satisfied.

Certain it is that the members of the ociation are more than satisfied with the excellent record of their president, and everybody will endorse the action of the nominating committee in naming for the second term.

The Exiled Queen.

A pretty woman with disheveled hair, and attired in a dressing gown with a cloak thrown over it, traveling from city to city in Europe, is enough to attract attention and excite sympathy, but when the woman is an exiled queen the case becomes decidedly interesting.

Natalie, of Servia, has been badly treated and it is no wonder that the students shed their blood in her defense. Her forcible expulsion from her palace, under the circumstances, will be very likely to cause trouble, and the Servian government may be overthrown before it is over.

Our readers are familiar with the matrimonial differences that separated King Milan and Queen Natalie, and led to the formation of a regency during the minority of their son King Alexander. Milan proved himself a royal blackguard of the first water, and no self-respecting woman could live with him. As the young king needed the presence of his mother, it was hoped that the would be permitted to remain in Servia but it seems that Milan influenced the prim minister against her, and persuaded him to order her expulsion. Natalie refused to go, and, after a brave but useless fight by the students, the soldiers broke into her palace and carried her out by force.

This senseless war upon a woman will hurt all who are engaged in it. The young king will not forgive his mother's enemies and as the czarina of Russia is her best friend. it will not be surprising if some interference omes from that quarter.

In the meantime, ex-King Milan, who is esponsible for this disgraceful business, ha yet to realize the fact that he is more bitterly hated and scorned than any man in Europe It is safe to predict that after this he will not find his pathway strewn with roses.

NO THIRD PARTY.

From The Augusta, Ga., Chronicle.

The idea of the democrats of the south identify-ing themselves with the third party movement will not meet with much consideration. There are manias that come and go and leave not a trace behind. This third party idea is one of the crast the brood. It is worse than the greenback tion that flourished for a while and then die cause the sober, second thought of the people re-pudiated it. There is no hope for the political sal-vation of the south and the country save and alone in the success of democratic principles

From The Athens, Ga., Banner.

The row that many newspapers have been raising about a third party is unprovoked. Those unpers are too quick to charge alliancemen with leaning towards republicanism, just as they have been all along too quick to charge much to the alliance of which the alliance was not guilty. There is no tendency on the part of the alliance to break up the democracic party. The alliance and the democracy are the same. Hand in hand they have fought oppressors this long beneath the smile of an approving God, and side by skie and heart to heart they will march on to work out the salvation of their commoff country.

The Silver Question

'N." in Sandersville, Ga., Progress. Permit me to call your attention to the sever articles (editorial and correspondence) in last Sunday's issue of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, on the all-absorbing silver question. The leading editorial, "The Silver Question Explained," Mr. Henry Jones's article, "The Silver Question, Senator Colquitt's talk on "Free Silver," and instant on the same subject, shed a perfect floor of light upon an issue which will loom up very tly at an early day in the approaching anvass for the presidency. The re-publication of these articles, or some of them, in our county papers, would, no doubt, be much apnever been fully understood even by many of the most intelligent readers.

Sensible Punishment for Drunkards

From The Springseld Union.

The Boston Herald makes the sensible surge The Boston Herald makes the sensible sugges-tion that the best law for the punishment of drunkenness would be one providing that the men sentenced to confinement should labor during the time of their imprisonment and that the wages earned should be paid to their families. There are many men who can be depended upon to get drunk once in about so many weeks, anyway, and their families are usually the chief sufferers during their term of confinement in jail.

Newspapers on the Berlin Plan.
From The Davenport Democrat.
It is said that in Berlin a faily paper is published and furnished to enberribers without cost. The advertisers pay all bills and leave a profit for the publishers. This plan is not so strange as it may appear on its face. Daily papers have been placed in the hands of their subscribers for from 10 to 15 cents a week in this country for years, and that trifling sum is so near nothing tl at it does not deserve to be counted. And when it comes to giving away reading matter the representatives of political parties do that on a very liber it scale, Candler and Captain Cyrus Sharpe, of Forsyth, as ruling elders.

The opening sermon of the southern assembly will be preached on Thursday at 11 a. m., by Rev. Dr. Park, of Knoxville.

To come up before the northern assembly is a case that has attracted attention amongst Presbyterians the world over.

It is that of Dr. Charles A. Briggs, who has for many years been professor of Hebrew and the cognate languages at Union Theological seminary, in New York city.

Recently Dr. Charles Butler, president of the board of directors, gave $100,000 to the endowment of a new chair—Biblical theology—which Dr. Briggs was selected to fill.

Even as professor of Hebrew, Dr. Briggs had been objected to as decidedly unorthodox. He wrote a treatise on "Biblical Study," another on "Messianic Prophecy," and last year another called "Whither"—all of which were consured by the orthodox authorities of his church.

His election to the new chair of Biblical theology brought matters to a crisis. His insugaral address dwelt upon—

The sources of divine authority: (a) the authority of the church; (b) the authority of the mana; (c) the authority of the holy scripture. And in his discussion of these he regarded them as parallel means of finding out God.

"The barriers of divine authority in holy scripture." Hy barriers he means those things which "obstruct" our views of the Bible. Of these he named: (a) Bibliolatry, or revereme for the Bible, calling it superstition; (b) verbal impriation, holding that "there is nothing divine in the text—in its letters, words or clauses"; (c) authenticity of the scriptures, asserting that "isaiah did not write the Pentateuch," etc.; (d) alleged "errors in the s indorsing the Hering plan, and providing for an emergency in the present system, is endorsed on all sides.

ing of the commission was held in the city hall yesterday morning. The most interesting matter before that body was the paper submitted by Mayor Hemphill. This paper was a communication from the chief of the fire department and presents in strong and terse language another very interesting phase of this very important question.

Chief Joyner's letter to the mayor read as

ATLANTA, Ga., May 14, 1891.—Hon. W. A. Hemphill, Mayor—Dear Sir: I understand from the waterworks department that taps to the water mains are daily being made to supply new ous-tomers, at the rate of about forty taps per week. My opinion is that the small main is now already greatly overtaxed, and to continue to make these taps will lessen the pressure to such an extent that it would not be sufficient in the event of an extensive fire. Even now, at times, the pressure is very weak, and should it be cut down any more, the city will be compelled to purchase, without delay, three additional steamers, which would cost at least $12,000, and to man and equip them would be an annual cost of from $10,000 to $12,000. I think the city would act wisely in refusing to allow any new taps to be made, and wherever possible cut off those now in use. I think this a very important matter which should receive immediate attention and, occupying the position I do, feel it my duty to notify you of same. Respectfully. W. R. JOYNER, Chief Fire Department.

After it had been read by its secretary it was discussed briefly by several members and was referred to the pipe committee.

Other Matters Considered.

Other Matters Considered.

Only two other matters of importance came for the consideration of the board.

Bids for the annual supply of coal, 3,000 tons, were opened, but all four were fejected. The board authorized the superintendent to purchase two of the Edison water gauges at a cost of about $80 each. These gauges are meant to register the pressure at all hours of the day and night. One will be placed at the works and one in the superintendent's office.

BRILLIANT WEDDING CALB-BRATED LAST EVENING.

Mrs. Julia Taylor Knight Becomes Mrs. Dr. McKinlock—Other Society Events of Interest—Gossip About People.

The most artistically beautiful home wedding over seen in Atlanta, was that which united Dr John McKinlock and Mrs. Julia Taylor Knight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Freeman last evening. This was the first occasion upon high Mrs. Presental alegant, new home was

It was a pink wedding and all the floral decorations were rose color. The apartment on the right contained many bowls and vases of crystal filled with supurb pink roses, these showing to exquisite effect against the carved woodwork and rich hangings. A connecting folding door led to the supper room. Here the large round table had for its centerpiece a magnificent crystal bowl filled with American beauty roses. On the outer circle were American beauty roses. On the outer circle were arranged many crystal candelabra with pink candles and shades, and placed on rose mats of pink silk. The salted almonds were held in pink silk roses. All the cakes were pink, save the bride's cake. The other ornaments were of crystal filled with pink blossoms. Many small tables with pretty bowls of pink flowers were arranged for the guests. The supper was delicious and beautifully served.

Passing from these apartments, the wide corridor was entered and in the cream and white drawing room, on the left, the ceremony was performed. The room is classical in its ele-gant simplicity, and the scheme of decoration enhanced its chaste charm.

The mosiac floor was scattered with soft white rugs. About three feet from the deep window at the end a wall of green and white was arranged with an arched door in the center, from which descended a wedding bell of pink and white roses. The partition was formed of white ribbons, smilax and palmettoes, the ribbons being interlaced into a lattice work and twined with smilax and a deep dade and friese being formed of the Paldeep dado and friege being formed of the pal-mettoes. Behind this decoration many electric mettoes. Behind this decoration many elect-lights were placed, making the effect enchanti-and brilliant in the extreme; and there the mu-cians were placed.

The minister, Rev. Dr. Morrison, stood just back of the archway. The two little maids of honor, Julia Taylor and Julia Porter, who pre-ceded the bride, untied the white ribbons which stretched across the entrance to the room, took their places on either side of the archway. They were lovely pictures of pure, childish beauty in their quaintly made little gowns of white silk mull, finished with lace. They carried big bouquets of pink roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her brother,
Mr. Walter Taylor, and the groom entered with his brother, Mr. McKinlock.

An interesting invitation was received in At-An interesting invitation was received in Atlanta yesterday that there was a reception to be given at their home, No. 171 Joralemon street, Brooklyn, N. Y., by Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Duncan: Mason, in honor of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, Miss Winnie Davis and Mrs. Stonewall Jackson. The reception will be given Wednesday afternoon, May 27th, from 4 until 6 o'clock.

Some of the pretty popular dances will be danced at the operetta of "Bo-Peep" on Friday evening and Saturday matinee by a number of Atlanta's most graceful young people. They will be directed by their teacher, Miss Morris. On ac-count of the sickness of one of the ladies who was to have sung in the operetta, Miss Congdon has onsented to sing her part.

The Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Society straw-berry festival occurs this afternoon at Concordia. Indications point to a very pleasant affair and, concluding with social features, will afford a splendid time to all present.

A cablegram from Liverpool, received by Cap-tain A. J. West yesterday, announces the safe ar-rival in that city of Mr. Frank West and Mr. Andrew West, of Atlanta.

Will Ficken Gets Into a Difficulty at Salt Springs Yesterday.

Will Ficken was arrested last night on the charge of assault with intent to murder.

The cause of the charge is a fight which occurred yesterday morning at Salt Springs, in which it is said Ficken cut his opponent.

The accused is a son of Mr. John Ficken, who was a grocery store on. Stonewall street.

His father says that his son told him something about it. He told him he got into a dispute with a much larger man whose name he did not know. The man struck him and he made a slash with his pocket knife. He didn't think it was much of a cut, and thought it was on the hand.

The marshal at Salt Springs caused the arrest, and was telegraphed last night to come to Atlanta and will probably arrive this morning.

Woman.

John Smith, the negro famed for his imitation of a calliope, and who works for the telephone company, came out second best yesterday in a fight with a woman. His head is badly gashed.

The gash was made by a brick thrown by Willie Huff. It made a deep hole, and the blood poured in a perfect stream down the man's face and clothes.

The woman admits throwing the brick, but says she did it because of the man's actions. She was locked up, and will be tried today.

Little Georgia Webb's Burial.

Georgia Webb, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.

Oakland cemetery. She was a charming child, and the light of the household. The funeral services were from the home, 439 East Fair street.

The Death of Mrs. Mary Keating.

Mrs. Mary Keating died yesterday afternoon at her home at 8 Markham street. She will be carried to Sharoa, Ga., today to be interred in the burying ground at that place. She was a widow, her husband having died some time since.

Little Charlie Dickinson's Death Charlie, the six-month-old som of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Dickinson, died yesterday morning at 148 East Hunter street. The child was taken suddenly ill the night before, and rapidly grew worse. Mr. Dickinson was in Brunswick at the Knights of Pythias convention, but reached home last night in response to a telegram.

THE YOUNG MEN'S LIBRARY ASSO CIATION'S ANNUAL REPORT.

resident Slaton Renders His Report and Suggests a Free Library for the Benefit of All Classes.

Will it be a free library?

President Slaton, in his annual address, suggests that the Young Men's library be made gess that the roung men's library be made free.

He speaks from experience and observation. The association has increased in strength and numbers during his administration more than was ever dreamed of before.

As an evidence of the good work that has been done, some extracts from his annual address will be amply sufficient.

Hundreds of new members have been added to our register, while hundreds of valuable books ornament shelves vacant a year ago. Our list of periodicals has been largely increased, afferding the most ambitious student a perfect opportunity to commune with the deepest thinkers upon all topics of current interest. Harmony has cemented the board into a compact body of personal friends, bearing rich fruit for your instruction and delight and the honor of Atlanta. I believe there has not been a failure during the year to have a quorum—a fact to be remembered and cherished by those of us who can recall a state of things in severe contrast. ontrast.

CONCERNING THE PROPERTY.

Of course we desire a location that would prove universally acceptable, but no man or woman has yet pointed out such a place which our means could purchase. At the same time it is gratifying could purchase. At the same time it is gratifying to know that your property is central, very valuable, and constantly becoming more so. Able financiers say that the lot is worth $1,100 a front foot. It fronts seventy-five feet on Decatur street, and at $1,100 a foot would be worth $82,500. We are only half a block from the Kimball. In a short time the valuable property between this building and Pryor street will probably be improved, and then this property will be more desirable than now. It occurs to me that the best settlement of the question is to remain for the present where we are.

The entertainment committee has been active and deserves the thanks of the association for much work, faithfully performed. They have given us the lectures of the famous explorer Henry M. Stanley, and of the lamented scholar Henry M. Stauley, and of the lamented scholar and orator, Dr. J. G. Armstrong; also an original, play of much merit, by Phil Ackerman, of the Boys' High school. The expenses incurred for these lectures were considerable, in comparison with the profit in dollars and cents, but all who are posted know this to be unavoidable. The committee cleared $231.08, but furnished much entertainment and instruction for the public, while they gave prestige and wide advertisement to our library REFORT OF COMMITTEES.

CONSTITUTION and Journal for numberless favors. Salaries of employes have been wisely increased during the year. It is neither just nor expedient to underpay our faithful officers.

From May, 1880, to May, 1890, there were issued to members 11,325 books; from May, 1890, to May, 1891, 16,462, a gain of 5,137 books. We feel a sense of pride at this showing. The list of books here named does not include the thousands read in the hall, of which no account was kept, but only those taken out by regular members.

The member hip for 1889 and 1890 was as follows:

Showing a gain in active membership of 28a, I ask the privilege of stating that I have added by my own work 239 new members during the year.

THE ARMSTRONG COLLECTION.

It is well known that a vigorous movement is on foot to add to our shelves the invaluable library of the late Dr. Armstrong. His books are such as a ripe and critical taste would select. They number 4,000. What a feast to the public they will prove. I am happy to say that Atlanta's public spirit and energy promise that we shall soon list this magnificent library as our own.

Wa rafer you with bride to the treasurer's resoon list this magninoem in prary as our own. We refer you with pride to the treasurer's report, which shows a balance of $866.45 to our credit May ist, although we have raised salaries from 25 per cent to 50 per cent, have bought this year nearly double the number of books purchased that year, and have enlarged on list of recipions.

last year, and have enacted our last a deplorable state of the library, its floating debt more than the income could meet, its credit gone, and little vitality left, and its continued existence threatened. Today we proudly point to our record—no floating debt, good credit, new books constantly coming in, increasing in usefulness and popularity, and more than this, an active and intelligent board that is equal to all emergencies.

Our bonded debt is comparatively small, only $13,000, on which we pay 6 per cent. The next board ought to pay off this debt, so that the interest charges of $780 can go annually to the purchase of new books. A united board can achieve this result.

A special meeting of the council was held resterday afternoon.

Their main object was to make some minor anges in the electric street railway ordinance ssed Monday night. This was necessary be use of the hurry and confusion in which that

The most important of these changes was and most important of these changes was suggested by City Attorney Goodwin, in the addition of this section:

The location of tracks, establishing grades, and rate of speed, and other running and supervisory regulations shall be subject to the ordinances of the mayor and general council now in force, or hereafter made.

This was adopted. Another change, proposed by Councilman Hulsey, was in substituting the word "amend" for the word "repeal," where reference is made to the Amorous ordinance.

This was adopted, too, and the report, which had been reconsidered to allow these changes was then read and adopted as a whole, The Atlanta and Chattahoochee-

The only other matter of importance brought up was over a petition of the Atlanta and Chattahoochee River Railway Company.

A petition from this same company was in the hands of the committee. No report was ready upon that. The petition introduced yesterday embraced substantially all that was asked for in the former petition, and more. Mr. C. J. Simmons, representing the petition, was present. There was a spirited discussion over s motion to grant the privileges asked in the second petition, without any reference to a Councilman King opposed it. He believed the matter should be investigated first, as were all petitions that came before council, and icularly so as these grants asked for were so important. Councilman Hulsey was in favor of granting the petition at once, as the people in the westa section of the city needed an electric line, and wanted it as soon as they could get it. Mr. Joel Hurt made a talk. He said that the Atlanta and Edgewood company had had the necessary authority from council to build s line in that section of the city; that his com-pany had never abandoned that project, but had delayed the matter to bring about had delayed the matter to bring about the recent consolidation; that his company had done some work, and intended soing more in this direction; that the time allowed his company had elapsed, but he asked for an extension; that he represented $300,-000 to $400,000 in property along this route posed to the grant to a new company, and that the service to be expected of a separate one-line company could not equal that given by the Union Company. "When were you given these rights for the Atlanta and Edgewood Company?" asked Alderman Woodward.

"In August, 1890," said Mr. Hurt.

"What work have you done?"
"We put up some poles on Luckie street."
Alderman Woodward was in favor of granting the petition of the new company.

"The Atlanta and Edgewood are pulling for 8,000 feet of vacant property out there; while this other petition represents 3,000 feet of property in homes, whose owners have waiting on this company and that comany to build a line, and now want this new company to begin work.

Councilman Turner, representing Bushville, was g'ad his section of the city was going to get something from the council at last. "I was in favor of giving the new company permission to go right ahead," said he, "bu

I've changed my mind. It ought to be re red regularly to a committee.

The motion to refer was lost.

Then, upon motion of Mr. Turner, it was reconsidered, and referred to the committee.

Upon motion of Mr. Rice, certain rights of the new company, which expire in twenty-two days, were extended thirty days longer.

Mr. Means, a brother-in-law of Harp, gave be following explanation when asked about

"I live on Courtland avenue. I received word last night that" Alonzo was posoned. I went to the house immediately and sent for two doctors. "When he was aroused not very long afterwards, I asked him if he took poison. He mid 'No, certainly not.' He stated that he had been sick all day, and as he entered the house and started up the stairs to his room he came near falling. He just happened to put his hand in his pocket, and feeling a bottle, pulled it out.

"It was a bottle of strychnine which he had bought to kill some dogs that had been prowling around the house.

"When he got in the room he still had the bottle in his hand, and called for his mother. The bottle was snatched from him, and the fact that it was strychnine frightened the folks."

"That's what Alonzo tells me, and I believe every word he says. He is a model young man. He doesn't drink, has no bad habits, and has good prospects.

Of ourse, the people were excited about its sickness, and seeing the bottle of strychnine and his symptoms they didn't know what to him.

The Cases in Which He Was a Witness Federal Court Were to Have Come up Tuesday in Atlanta.

Thomas Cantrell, a United States witness was shot in Haralson county Sunday. Can-trell is still alive, but the case is a serious one, and points to a conflict of state and federal an-

The question is-Why was Cantrell shot? If the attempted killing was to shut his mouth as a witness-to-be in the federal courts, then the crime is one over which the United States authorities will probably claim juris-

Almost inevitably this matter will be left in some doubt, and there is where the conflict of authority may arise.

The whole appearance of the case justifies the general belief that Cantrell was shot to prevent his appearance as a witness. He was generally regarded amongst the moonshiners in Haralson county as a spy or in-former for the revenue officers. He had previously been a witness for the covernment in some cases, and had assisted he officers in procuring evidence.

Further, and this appears to have a more Im mediate bearing upon the crime; he was to be witness in two Haralson county cases for perjury, growing out of internal revenue cases, both of which were set for a hearing in Atlante iast Tuesday.

The attempted killing occurred at Tallapoosa, at the place of a man named Cook.

This was a resort where rice beer, and the like, is being sold. Cantrell has been a witness against the man

Cantrell waited all night, until 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

With him were Cook and two or three others. About 4 o'clock Cantrell gave up his lookout and started off on his way home. He had gone about 100 yards when one of the men at Cook's place shouted to him and he turned around.

Just as he did so the shot was fired. Cantrell fell unconscious. The shot had gone through his body, barely touching the

THE LEWIS MONUMENT. Committees Appointed-Governor

Northen Urges Them to Report.

Governor Northen some time ago appointed the following committees from the Georgia State Agricultural Society to secure subscriptions to the Lewis monument from the mem-bers of the society in their respective congresonal districts bers of the society in their respective congressional districts:

First district, S. D. Bradwell, Atlanta; D. R. Johnson, Blackshear. Second district, A. Q. Moody, Boston; A. O. Barry, Cuthbert. Third district, J. C. Clements, Towns; R. W. Anderson, Hawkinsville. Fourth district, G. E. Thomas, Columbus; J. M. Mobley, Hamilton. Fifth district, W. G. Whidby, Atlanta; R. J. Redding, Experiment. Sixth district, M. J. Hatcher, Macon; Robert E. Park, Macon. Seventh district, T. J. Lyon, Cartersville; J. J. Lampton, Cedertown. Eighth district, J. J. Lampton, Cedertown. Eighth district, J. J. Eampton, Cedertown. Eighth district, J. B. Eberhart, Carlton; J. W. Glenn, Elberton; J. H. Nichols, Nacoochee. Tenth district, M. I. Branch, Berzella; Mark Newman, Sandersville.

The governor has heard from very few of the committees up to date, and it is highly important that they should all report in the course of the next ten or fifteen days. The monument will be unveiled on the 29th of June, and as fully $300 must yet be raised to complete the fund, the committees will greatly help the cause by securing subscriptions as rapidly as possible.

ing and Judge Newsome The eronaut's Thrilling Experience.

Balloon ascension, fat men's race and Judge Newsome.

These were the features of the grocers' pic nic at Lithia Springs yesterday.

It was the most largely attended and cer tainly one of the most enjoyable picnics of the season. The grocers, grocery clerks and grocery drummers, the butchers and butchers clerks, and all their wives, sweethearts and children were there. Three trains of eleven cars each were re quired to transport the picnickers from city to the springs, and each train carried 1,000

The grocer had laid aside his scoop and measures, and the cares of buying and selling, loss and gain, collecting and disbursing for the day, and was intent upon the enjoyment of the picnic. And the butcher, happy in contemplation of his next Sunday's rest—by the grace of the general council of the city of Atlanta-was even happier in the realization of the pleasures of this day in the woods.

At the Grounds.

Than Lithia Springs there is no more de-lightful place for a picnic. The cool shady groves, and grassy lawns, the silvery lake and pretty flowers make it a delightful place for re and recreation.

The large room formerly occupied by the Chautauqua restaurant was used as a dancing hall, and mnay a sprightly groceryman trippe "the light fantastic" to the lively music train time.

The portly forms of Mr. I. C. Mayson, J. A. Lyon and W. H. Gardiner were the entries in the fat men's race. As they shook their bulky sides in the desperate effort to get the prize, the laughter and cheering were tremendous. Mr. Lyon won the first prize, and Mr. Mayson the second, each of which was a bottle pickles. Perry Treadwell won the first prize in the oot race, and Jimmie McDonald won the first in the sack race. THE MARRIAGE.

At 12 o'clock the muchly advertised wedding occurred. The groom is Mr. H. H. Robinson, a car penter, who resides at 23 Hills avenue, and the bride is Miss Sylvester Dunton, of Cobb county. They were escorted to the platform by friends, and the ceremony was performed in a very impressive manner by Rev. Dr. Johnson, an aged Presbyterian minister.

At the conclusion of the ceremony numbers of friends congratulated the couple, among whom was Mr. I. S. Mitch-ell, the gallant grocer who presented the bride with a lovely bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will make their nome in Atlanta.

JUDGE NEWSOME'S OVATION. After the marriage Judge Newsome was led upon the platform and introduced by a prominent grocer "as a singer of national reputa-tion." The judge was looking his best with an immense button-hole bouquet on his coat, and a carnation pink in his right hand. He was greeted with dealening applause.

"I will sing you my song," said the judge,
"called the 'Lone Rock by the Sea.' It is the history of two lovers-" Three bananas, a lemon and many other tokens of appreciation were thrown at the judge.

"The first man who treats me with an in dignity I will throw this chain at him," said the judge, grasping a chain. The appreciation of the audience amounted to an ovation. Everything available was thrown upon the platform, and the judge after a second attempt to sing left the platform, making his way through the crowd by aiming several well-directed blows at some his overzealous admirers.

THEN THE DINNER, At 12:30 o'clock the dinner was spread ander the shade of the oaks in genuine picnic fashion, and was enjoyed by the picnickers. Those who did not carry a basket, patronized Sweetwater Park hotel. THE BALLOON ASCENSION.

THE DRUMMERS.

There was a large delegation of Atlanta's local drummers circulating among the grocers yesterday. Among the most prominent were: Mr. James Dickson, Mr. F. Ward Curtright, Mr. J. Atkinson, Mr. Eustace Moore, Mr. Robert Hofflau, Mr. H. P. Bramlett, Mr. M. C. Paterson and Mr. S. T. Henderson.

Among the nameless heroes, none are more worthy of martyrdom than he who rode down the valley of the Conemaugh, warning the people ahead of the Johnstown flood. THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The dominant factor in Wall street is still exports of gold and to this uncertainty is due in a great measure apathy of leading 'operators who have been so lately arrayed upon the bull side. Appearances, however, are now undoubtedly more favorable to a cessation of the outward movement than ever before, and many operators are believed to have picked up the line of stocks during the last few days under cover of the bear attacks upon leading shares. picked up the line of stocks during the last few days under cover of the bear attacks upon leading shares. The opening this morning was strong on continuation of yesterday's spurt and the demand from foreigners, and the arival of gold from this side having, to a large extent, stimulated the bullish feeling there on American securities. The extent of this buying was not measured at first, and the upward movement was resisted with vigor until the afternoon when local shorts became frightened and began to cover with a will. The strongest stocks were boulsville, Missouri Pacific, Grangers and specialties, the strength in the Missouri Pacific being interpreted as indicating that Gould is eing interpreted as indicating that Go again in the market as a buyer. St. Paul was the mos ctive as usual but its preponderance in the market was less marked than usual of lat;, and the business was less marked than usual of lat., and the business done was very evenly distributed among the leading shares. The upward movement met with no setback whatever and ceased only with the close of business when everything traded in was at the highest price of the day, the market still being strong and active. Bales listed aggregated 333,000 shares; unlisted 15,000. Exchange quiet and weak at 484@488½; commercial bills 483@486%.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, May 20.—Copious rains were reported in the wheat, corn and oat belts, with more promised, and fears of short crops on account of drought were dissipated, at least for the present. As a consequence, the market sail opened weak, and operators on the bear side proceeded to take their profits, though the marked recession in prices was less due to their efforts than to a desire on the part of holders of long property to market their stuff. To add to the discomfort of holders, receipts at all points were more liberal. For to market their stuff. To add to the discomfort of holders, receipts at all points were more liberal. Foreign markets were lower and today's steamers took out heavy shipments of gold. Buying against "puts" early absorbed a large quantity of wheat that had been thrown overboard at the start on stop loss orders. After this buying was over the market again broke badly. Several of the large shorts bought on this break and caused a respectable rally. material feaction, July going from 57/2e@58/4c at the opening to 56/2c at the close.

Outs were not as weak relatively as corn, but the rains nevertheless weakened somewhat the position of olders. July opened at 45% c@45%c, sold to 46%c and holders. July opened at 45%c@45%c, sold to 48%c and off to 45%c. The improved outlook for the corn crop materially weakened provisions. Large receipts of hogs, and a general desire to raid hy heavy operators, helped the decline along. July pork shows a loss for the day, compared with yesterday's close, of 32%c; lard of 12%c and rbs of a like amount. The leading futures ranged as follows in Chicago

From the Southern Railway and Steamship Association—What Does It Mean? The Question Discussed,

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

THE EAST TENNESSEE POSTPONES

The East Tennessee may not withdraw from the Southern Passenger Association after all. In fact, it looks as if the officials of that road did not know exactly their own minds in the Official notice from Vice President Fink has been served on the association, extending the time of withdrawal thirty days.

Yesterday a circular was sent out from Com missioner Slaughter, announcing the fact that the East Tennessee had asked that its with-drawal from the Southern Passenger Association be postponed for thirty days.

This circular created something of a sensa tion in railroad circles.

It was free!y discussed, but nobody seemed to understand what it meant. The East Tennessee's original notice of withdrawal fromthe Southern Passenger Asso-ciation, which was served on April 26th last, was from the first the subject of considerable

Several rumors were affoat that it was simply a bluff on the part of the East Tennessee to gain an entrance to the union depot, and other rumors of simular caliber were freely circulated among railroad gossips. But all charges of bluffing were promptly denied by the East Tennessee people, who said they meant business—that withdrawal from the association had been contemplated for some time and that the notice was given after due consideration.

Another theory was that the notice of withdrawal had been served because of a difficulty or misunderstanding of some sort in getting certain rates which the East Tennessee wanted to put on.

Last week when Colonel Wrenn, general passenger agent of the East Tennessee, was in Atlanta, he answered all these rumors by stating that the road had determined to withdraw for no other reason than simply to be in a position to attend to its own business better than it could be attended to while the road remained in the association.

Then there was also a great deal of talk about rate-cutting, but Colonel Wrenn in a few words knocked all this talk silly by stating that the East Tennessee had not the slightest intention of doing anything that would bring on a rate war. On the contrary, the company would as far as possible still be governed by the rules of the passenger associa-

In the face of all this talk about schemes In the face of all this talk about schemes, rate-cutting, and so forth, the announcement that the East Tennessee will think further before withdrawing from the Southern Passenger Association is likely to create no little speculation. As a well-posted railroad man put it yesterday:

"Does it mean that the withdrawal was really a bluff on the part of the East Tennessee to gain an entrance to the union depot on more advantageous terms?

"Or does it mean that the company was just huffy at some certain action of the association,

"Or does it mean that the company was just huffy at some certain action of the association, and now the fur is beginning to lie down smoothly in its place again?

"Or does it mean that there has been sufficient pressure brought to bear at head-quarters to force the East Tennessee to abandon its purpose of withdrawal?"

Yesterday the East Tennessee officials were very reticent about the turn affairs have taken. In fact, no one at all connected with the foad cared to say anything on the subject, except to express surprise at the action of Vice President Fink.

Under the original notification the East Tennessee would have been out of the pas-senger association on the 26th of this month. The J., T. and K. W. Follows Suit. Another postponement of withdrawal from the Southern Passenger Association. This one is the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West road-one of the lines of the Plant

Which is significant when taken in connection with the action of the East Tennessee, both roads being controlled in New York.

The notice of withdrawal by the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West road was served on May 6th, and but for the notice of postponement would have taken effect on June 6th.

Sth.

Two weeks ago it looked squally for the Southern Passenger Association. But now the prospect is brightening.

The next move on the part of the East Tennessee will be awaited with interest by railroad people and the public generally.

An Important Move.

Just now one of the most interesting subjects in local railroad circles is the establish-

A movement in this direction has been on foot for some months past, and it is understood that all the roads entering into Atlanta are favorable to it except one, and this one has abou made up its mind to join in the establishmen

Major G. H. Bonner, formerly superintendent of the Georgia division of the East Tennessee road, is actively interested in the establishment of the service, and it is probable that he will be manager of the new departure in le will be managed local railroading.

All the railroads agree that a car service is badly needed, not only in Atlanta, but in all commercial cities doing anything like an ex-badly needed, not only in Atlanta, but in all commercial cities doing anything like an extensive business.

The work of the car service is to attend to the unloading of cars and thus preventing freight blockades. During the past year Atlanta merchants, and doubtless merchants all over the country where no service exists, have felt the inconvenience and serious delay of business caused by these blockades which fie up cars in the railroad yards for an unreatonable length of time.

As it now stands, it is next to impossible for competing roads to enforce demurrage charges, but with the assistance of a car service this method of compelling merchants to unload their cars without unnecessary delay could be enforced easily—and with mutual advantage to the railroads and merchants.

Demurrage at the rate of $1 a day per car will be charged consigners who fail to promptly release cars, and when merchants see that there is no way of avoiding the payment of their fee, as by threatening to divert their business to a competing line if it is insisted upon, freight blockades will be a thing of the past.

After the establishment of the headquarters

After the establishment of the headquarters in Atlanta branches will be established in other cities. It is thought that the active pre-liminary work of the service will be begun by the lat of June, in time to take charge of the grocerymen and everybody else were ng the Georgia Pacific for the admirable n which the grocers' big picnic was handled yesterday.

Three special trains were run, and fully 4000 people were carried to the picnic grounds without delay and without hitch or accident

without delay and wantout of any kind.
Colonel W. B. Ryder, superintendent of the Georgia Pacific, was on hand to personally look after the comfort of the crowd.
The clover Sam Hardwick was also there and did everything in his power to render the trip of the picnickers to Salt Springs a pleasant one.

At 7:30 the first special left the union depot with thirteen coaches, all crowded. In just thirty-five minutes the run of twenty-one miles as made, which is something extraordinary, considering the heavy train. This train was in charge of Engineer Dunlap and Conductor Griggs, two of the G. P.'s brag pienic manipu-lators.

lators.

Engineer Howes and Conductor Luther Gross had charge of the second train of twelve coaches, which left the shed at 8 o'clock, and Conductor Walevown and Engineer Watkins andled the throttle and pulled the bell cord in Ro. 3—all working to the queen's taste.

Manager Carroll's Circular.

cinnati, New Orleans and Texas railway, Alabama Great Southern railroad, New Orleans and Northeastern railroad, Alabama and Vicksburg railway, Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railroad, and Louisville Southern railroad, from which the following extracts are taken.

After referring to a schedule which he says was submitted to him by a committee claiming to represent the lines above mentioned, which committee gave the roads until the 16th of this month to commence the schedule, General Manager Carroll says:

In the first place, there is a general demand that ten hours shall constitute a day's work. This proposition is not for a reduction of hours of labor, however, but for an increase in compensation. It is not proposed to change the runs or the work now done, but to adopt a system which would make it advantageous to delay the movement of trains on the road, and thus to create overtime. Such a system could not be considered beneficial either to the company, its employes or to the public.

beneficial either to the company, its employes or to the public.

In the second place, there is a general demand that 100 miles or less shall constitute a day's work, and be paid for as a full day. Any effort to break up the system of adjustment in this particular would require the immediate abandonment by the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific company of its terminals at Lexington, Somerset and Oakdale, the location of only two division terminals between Cincinnati and Chattanooga, and the readjustment of the runs so as to secure the benefit of the demand requiring that 100 miles or less shall constitute a day's work. The company, as far as it is concerned, can fortunately make this change with little expense, compared to the increase in this particular item called for by the men.

this change with little expense, compared to the increase in this particular item called for by the men.

The companies will continue in the future, as they have in the past, to deal fairly with their employes, and to give every man a fair hearing and all complaints an impartial investigation.

One clause particularly asks the management to hire two experienced engineers to one fireman who shall be promoted. The companies have, as far as practicable, followed the policy of promoting their competent firemen, many of whom are drawn from the ranks of the brakemen.

Another clause refers to the amount of work that shall be required of engineers. The companies I represent have never degired to overwork their employes, and are equally interested with them in not requiring any man to go on duty unless he is fully able to do so.

On the general question of pay a hasty computation shows that the men have been making exceptionally good wages, passenger engineers generally making $150 per month, and freight engineers generally making $150 per month, and freight engineers generally making $150 per month. Firemen are able to earn shout half these amounts.

The increase demanded would in the aggregate amount to about $260,000 per annum. This advance alone represents an investment of $5,200,000 at 5 per cent.

It will be seen, therefore, that the schedule now asked for is beyond the power of the management to grant, especially in view of the financial troubles that all sections of the country are experiencing, resulting, as you know, in a serious loss of business to all our lines.

It is not a question of what the employes would like, or what the management desires to do, but what the companies can afford and meet their obligations to the security holders and to the public

We have secured the agency for Georgia Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina and Florida of the ROCHESTER STEEL MATS.

ROCHESTER STEEL MATS, Striped Steel Mats, Steel Stairways, Car Steps, Etc.
What are their qualities?
They do not accumulate deposits, nor require to be shaken. They will not break down and flatten out as with wire or rubber mats, but they will outwear all others combined in the market, being of steel ribs placed perpendicularly to each other and so secured as to permit of a slight elasticity.

They are the most perfect scrapers; they are ornamental, a quality found in no competing mat. Their structure is firm, solid, mathematically regular and agreeable in form and outline. With all these advantages their cost does not exceed that of any metal mat offered for sale. It is indispensible for hotels, elevators, banks, public buildings, schools, street cars, churches, restaurants and residences.

Fairles. Lillian Huntley, Lilla Clara Underwood, Daisy Annie Underwood and others.

Taffy, the Cook. Masses.

Act I. Seene—A farm yard. The hilarity of "May Day" morning is disturbed by two events. Mrs. Mary has discovered that the deed of her farm has been used by "Boy Blue" to make a tail for his kite, and she has banished him in anger. The peasants are informed of his exile by "Taffy," the cook. "Bo-Peep," faithful to "Boy Blue," resolves to find him. "Lady Lea" appears on the scene and announces to the peasants the loss of the ring given her by her lover, who is across the sea, promising to whoever finds and restores the ring any reward which lies in her power to bestow.

Act II. "Bo-Peep" discovers "RoylBlue" asleep, and decides to share his exile. "Boy Blue" goes in search of flowers, when "Bo-Peep finds the ring of "Lady Lea."

Act III, Picnic Scene—"May Pole Dance," Fairy Dance. Little Daisy Annie Underwood.

The Sensation of the Day.

Dr. Henry L. Wilson and E. M. Roberts' Great Sale of 78 Capitol Avenue lots at 4 p. m. today is certainly creating a big sensation all along the line.

Letters are coming in from parties from many other cities and townships saying we are coming to your big sale; we want some of those choice lots.

One party writing from South Carolina says: "I know Capitol Avenue is improving rapidly, and is already a fine street." One from Birmingham, Ala., says: "If I can't come I'll have a friend to represent me. I want some of those lots.

Another from North Carolina township says: 'I am coming; I want two or three of those lots."

Still another, writing from South Georgia, says: Success be with you in your big sale. The Lord willing I'll be there;" and we might enlarge here, but we forbear. Reader, don't miss this sale.
